FINED $27,700.

Men Charged With Running a Game Compromise With the Government.

Covington, Ky., April 9.—Upon the agreement of the Kentucky Lottery to quit business in the United States forever, a fine of $27,700 was entered against it in the United States court here today. The fines were divided among the promoters as follows:

Maurice Richmond, $10,000; J. R. Jameison, $5,000; Charles E. Wells, $5,000; Sidney Long, $5,000; H. W. Armstrong and Louis Gatto, $250 each, and James Starr, $200.

Court costs in the action will be about $1,800, and this will be added to the check which the lottery promised to send at once to the court officials, ending the work through which Chief Wilke, of the Secret Service, ran the concern down.

A grand jury at Richmond returned these indictments February 6, the indictments against Thomas Dawson, of Indianapolis, and John Weidner, of New York, being nolleed by consent of the United States.

It was found that the company had lotteries all over the country, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Ft. Erie, Cincinnati and New York being the branches, and the central office being in Kentucky.

JOHNSON IS WILLING.

Would Accept Nomination, But Will Not Scramble For It.

Chicago, April 10.—Gov. John A. Johnson, of Minnesota, says:

"I am a candidate for the Presidency in the sense that if I gain the nomination I shall accept it and make every effort to be elected. I am not making any personal campaign, and do not expect to seek instructed delegates. I consider the ambition to be President one of the most laudable aspirations which any man can entertain.

"Any insinuations or assertions," said Gov. Johnson, "that my candidacy is being advised by James J. Hill and his interests is absolutely false. I have fought him several times, and have never received a word of encouragement from him or any similar source."

Gov. Johnson said that he did not care to discuss Wm. J. Bryan and any differences in policy between himself and Mr. Bryan.

"I have the highest regard for Mr. Bryan as a man," said Gov. Johnson, "and I admire his ability and his honesty. We are friends so far as I know. My position is just this: If the members of the Democratic party feel that I would stand more chance of election than would Mr. Bryan or any other man, I will be glad to make the campaign.

"If I am considered the most available man, there will be no lack on my part of the honor conferred on me. It all depends, in my judgment, on the platform and a vigorous campaign. As I view it, the Democratic party has at least an even chance to win this year.

DANCED AROUND CORPSE

Growsome Wind-up of Meeting of Undertakers' Association.

Omaha, Neb., April 11.—A special from Sioux City says: Dancing a wild orgy around the prostrate form of a naked cadaver, a party of high spirited undertakers brought the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Iowa Funeral Directors' Association to a close in the early morning hours with scenes of wild-eyed revelry.

A convivial spirit, noticing a corpse which had been used in the demonstrations, proposed that the "stiff" should take part in the festivities. In an instant various members of the crowd contributed portions of their raiment and soon the body was dressed, propped up on the platform, with a cigar jammed between his teeth, and the revelers made merry jests as they circled around. As the merriment became more furious they tore the clothing from the lifeless body, laid it out on an improvised bier, strewn the "remains" with flowers and then danced in gay abandon about the platform.

TAKES FOR HIS SUBJECT

"What Would I Do If I Were An Editor."

We note in an exchange the following article, which appears to us:

A Peoria preacher is going to speak on the subject, "What I Would Do If I Were An Editor." Well, he would do about what the rest of us do. Say nice things about everybody, try to cover up some people's meanness, boost the town, take anything on subscription from pumpkins to gold dollars, hustle around town for news, get cussed for some things he put in the paper, and some things he failed to put in. If he didn't do these things and a hundred more that are required of the editor, he would not be an editor long enough to get the ecclesiastical veneer worn off.

It's fun to be an editor—try it.

For cuts, sprains, bruises, rheumatic and all other pains, use McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment. First sold in 1852, the same effective remedy in 1908. Good for man or beast. 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

The Billboard.

A certain playwright who has graduated from the press agent academy stood in front of a Broadway billboard one day in a driving rain and sadly contemplated the moist, pasty wreck of a once lovely lithograph.

"You can never get away from the business you were brought up in," he said. "Honestly, it hurts me almost as much to see that wreck of a three sheet as it would to see one of my plays fail. To this day I never wake up on a rainy morning without my first thought being as I look out of the window, 'There'll be a lot of good paper down by night.' It's the agent's instinct. You can never outgrow it." —New York Sun.

The Flag and the Regiment.

When William McKinley was Major McKinley, he once made an address in which he described the difference between the American volunteer and the soldier of other nations. The men who were his comrades in the war between the states, he said, not only fought, but thought. To illustrate this he related an anecdote about a young soldier in some northern regiment whose duty it was to carry the regimental flag. On the march the boy ran on ahead, with the flag streaming in the air. The colonel was incensed. "Here!" he cried. "Bring that flag back to the regiment!"

The boy turned and replied, "Aw, you bring your regiment up to the flag!"

MR. BRYAN'S OPINIONS

The plan of guaranteed bank deposits has probably found favor, among all classes of people and irrespective of political affiliation, more rapidly than any other public question.

The new state of Oklahoma has already enacted a law taxing state banks, the fund thus accumulated to be used in paying the depositors of any state bank that from any cause becomes unable to meet its obligations. A special session of the Kansas legislature has been called for the purpose of enacting legislation similar to the Oklahoma plan. The governor of Nebraska is considering the advisability of calling a special session of the legislature on account of the growing belief among the people that protection to bank depositors in the form of state or federal guarantees of their deposits will stop the hoarding of money, bring into circulation sufficient currency to conduct the business of the country, and prevent a recurrence of such disastrous panics as the one through which we are now passing.

Mr. Bryan has been an advocate of a law guaranteeing deposits in state and national banks since 1893.

Mr. Bryan, in discussing the tariff questions, insists that residents of the United States should be permitted to buy home-made goods at home at as low a price as the foreigner can buy American-made goods abroad. He also insists that our government should be by and for the people as a whole, rather than by and for the trusts, and administered in the interest of a few beneficiaries of the trust system. He believes that national legislation for the purpose of better regulation and control of interstate commerce and common carriers should supplement state legislation, and not be a substitute for state legislation.

Mr. Bryan's paper, The Commoner, reflects his opinions each week on questions of public importance and in its columns may also be found his magazine articles, public speeches, addresses and lectures, which are referred to in the daily press from day to day.

If you are interested in political questions, if you desire to keep in touch with the progress of the campaign and to read Mr. Bryan's campaign speeches send sixty cents to The Commoner, and the paper will be sent to you each week until the close of the next presidential campaign.

Postoffice money order, currency or stamps will be accepted. Only sixty cents. Address The Commoner, Lincoln, Neb.
